

I am anything when I'm high.

The future is already over
It has been decided a long time ago
Man has already chosen his fate whether he realizes it or not
We abdicated our voice for the lack of responsibility
This in turn has lead to a generation without critical thinking
We are all to blame as individuals and as a society collectively
We allowed this to happen seemingly overnight
That's not to say that there aren't still people who care about the truth
They are just very very few and very very far between
Only those who are willing to fight for what's right will be leaders of the revolution
We must carry light throughout the darkness in order for there to be hope
Without the brave souls who do so we are doomed
And arguably that's near impossible now
But sometimes the only battles worth fighting are the ones we know we will lose
So what do you choose?
Will you surrender?
Or will you become a part of something greater than yourself and join the saviors?